BONNIE BAYOU

'Richly layered contemporary and Louisiana music' (Herald). The Jennifer Ewan Band performs a stirring mix of compelling original songs, Louisiana blues, and old-time Cajun dance music with a Celtic tint and their own amazing energy. Jennifer's distinctive, rich Scots voice soars over the Bayou grooves supported by an intricate interplay of accordion, flute, acoustic guitar, bass and percussion. 'Jennifer is a Scottish rising star' (The Janice Forsyth Show, BBC Radio Scotland). 'A sassy cocktail of Cajun and modern sounds' (Metro).

SOUNDBONE PLAYS LED ZEPPELIN

Fronted by Trombonist/Producer Chris Greive, this extraordinary trio approaches the Led Zep canon as devoted fans, paying homage to the massive riffs and weight of the originals by bringing a Living Loving... prog-jazz approach to every song. Graeme Stephen (electric guitar and effects) brings his shredding game to the tribute, with Davide Rinaldi (drums) bossing the Bonham rhythmic shapes with mighty kick drum punches. Add to this, Greive innovating in the bass role by employing an octave pedal (electric trombone)... Soundbone plays Led Zeppelin and everybody wins.

THE KATET VS JOHN WILLIAMS

The Katet – Edinburgh's eight-piece jazz-funk superband, famed for their infamous treatment of Stevie Wonder's back-catalogue – invite you to join them on the dance floor as they funk up the music of Star Wars, Jurassic Park, Indiana Jones, E.T. and more. All your favourite film scores like you've never heard them before! Expect pounding grooves, funky horns and duelling guitars. Featuring national blues star Jed Potts (guitar) and Scottish jazz hero Konrad Wiszniewski (sax). Expertly arranged and led by Northern Ireland's answer to Stevie Wonder, Maestro Mike Kearney. 'Loved it!' * (Steven Spielberg).

THE SORRIES AT THE BAR

Returning to the Jazz Bar by popular demand, the duo sing, play and banter their way through a different selection of Scottish traditional music. Along with fine musicianship, the pair delight in offering some of the stories and history behind the famous old tunes, bringing elements of their podcast The Scottish Song Guide to the stage. 'Deliciously infectious... riotous fun' * (ThreeWeeks, 2012). 'Authentic, lively and hugely, hugely enjoyable' * (BroadwayBaby.com). 'A must for lovers of Scots songs' * (EdinburghSpotlight.com). 'Foot stomping, hand clapping, sing-along-a-Scotland – very enjoyable' * (ThreeWeeks, 2023).

5 NIGHTS IN HARPERSPACE

Acclaimed guitarist/singer/songwriter and double Herald Angel Award winner returns to Edinburgh's Jazz Bar and plays from his extensive back catalogue over five nights. Expect everything from the emotional to the political, from witty to virtuosic, and the singular to the universal... 'One of the finest guitarists, soaring vocals, epic songs' (Mojo). 'Harper has so much musicianship in him, that it just leaks out all over the place' (Times). 'Be there or be denied a life-affirming experience' (Rob Adams, Glasgow Herald). 'Betjeman with a guitar' (Guitarist). 'Acoustic Hendrix!' (Guitar).
